Armistice Supper and Program Biggest Yet

Those who sat down among the 400 partook of a sumptuous chicken dinner last Monday evening, at the Opera House under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Knox United Church. The Armistice supper reached a high water mark and it taxed the capacity of the hall to take care of the crowd. The weather was ideal and the roads just about their best.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the singing of 'O Canada' opened the concert portion. This was followed by the string orchestra consisting of Miss Weber and Miss Boorman and Weller, accompanied by Mrs. Boorman. Mr. H. Wright gave a novelty stunt with a pipe whistle; Mrs. Huget a reading; Miss Saugstad a vocal solo and Mr. J. Robertson a comic song. The male quartette of Knox Church also gave a number. Rev. H. E. Roppel of the Evangelical Church brought greetings. The address entitled "Canada and Canadians," by Mr. Alfred Speakman, M.P., was listened to with careful attention. It was a discourse worth coming miles to hear. Rev. A. E. Hayes acted as chairman.

Burnside Notes

Mr. W. C. Ahlgren and son, Ronald, narrowly escaped what might have been a serious accident last Thursday when in turning out to meet a team the steering gear on their car broke and the car turned over. Outside of a few scratches and a severe shaking up of the occupants no damage was done.

We extend congratulations to Mr. John Hunter and his bride. A large number of the young folks of the district gathered on Friday evening and gave them a chivaree.

Don't forget the box social and dance in the Lone Pine Hall on Friday, Nov. 23rd.

The Lone Pine W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Wm. McGuloch on Thursday last. The meeting took for its topic: Help for the Farm Wife, and was taken part in by the large number of women present who gave their experiences along this line. Some were humorous and some quite otherwise.

The Institute is holding a Leap Year dance in the Lone Pine Hall on Friday, Dec. 7th. Bellamy's 4-piece orchestra in attendance.

RUGBY W.I.

A very interesting and pleasant afternoon was spent by the ladies of the Rugby Women's Institute when they met at the home of Mrs. H. Farrant on Thursday, November 1st. The radio station CKUA broadcast a program especially for the meeting, consisting of musical numbers and a talk by Miss Milne, head of the poultry department, University of Alberta, on the feeding of poultry for winter egg production.

Following a short business discussion, the members were entertained with several contests, after which the hostess served a dainty lunch.

Think It Over.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, in addressing the Maritime Province Club in Montreal, told a "Father Doyle" story, which he heard while visiting Nova Scotia this past summer, a story with a point to it:

"Father Doyle was walking along a road there, before automobiles were allowed on Prince Edward Island—that is not so long ago—and he was overtaken by a farmer in a democrat. The farmer said, 'Will you have a lift?' and Father Doyle said he would be delighted. He got into the democrat and opened up the conversation by asking the farmer his name. 'My name's Murphy, but I'm not a Catholic,' the farmer answered. Father Doyle suggested that they might leave religious matters alone and get along quite well together. As they neared the journey's end, Father Doyle thanked the farmer, and offered to give him a little advice from an old man of long experience. 'When you die, you hope to go to heaven?' 'I hope so.' 'Well, remember my advice. When you get there, and go up to the golden gate and knock at the door, and St. Peter says 'Who's there?' Just say 'Murphy,' and stop right there!'

Father Doyle's suggestion that we might leave our religious differences alone and treat each other as fellow men—(say "Murphy" and stop right there)—is good advice. What, says one daily paper in commenting on this little story, is wanted is a mind and a will, and organizations, to emphasize our common needs, and our common ideals, the points upon which we can agree, rather than the minor matters upon which we disagree and which will endanger ill-will, strife and discord.

The recent Presidential election in the United States is an object lesson to all people. A great country of upwards of 110,000,000 people, engaged in the supremely important task of determining the personnel and policies of their Government for the next four years, have had their minds distracted from the real issue involved in the election by appeals based solely on the religious belief of one of the candidates for President. It is not that the candidate in question was a heathen, or an atheist, denying there is a God, and wholly devoted to worldly things and lacking all the finer ideals in life,—no, he believes in, and worships the same God as those who attacked him, but he was born into and brought up to respect certain doctrines and forms in one particular branch of the Christian church, just as his opponents were born into and brought up to respect and accept the doctrines and forms of worship in other branches of the Christian church. But these Christians could not agree to disagree on these minor matters and unite on the great fundamentals of Christianity itself. With what result?

Great national issues affecting the whole life and future of the country, such as the prohibitory liquor laws, the tariff, the improvement of agriculture, public ownership of public utilities versus private and monopolistic control, and other real national questions, all became confused and mixed up in the minds of millions of people with the really inconsequential subject of one man's church affiliation. And what has been gained thereby? What remains after all the shouting is over? Old friendships of a lifetime broken, feelings of bitterness and hatred engendered, communities divided which were formerly united in work for the common good.

It is but a repetition of the strife of the middle ages. Much the same thing has occurred in Canada over and over again, but no man living can point to any good resulting from such campaigns. Here in Western Canada our people pride themselves on their devotion to co-operative principles, and they can point to the accomplishment of great and lasting reforms because of their acceptance of, and devotion to co-operative policies and enterprises. But they may well ask themselves how long that good-will and harmony so essential to the success of co-operative endeavor will last, not to mention its further development and growth in order that still greater things may be achieved, if they are going to give encouragement to feelings of bitterness and take part in campaigns of division based on the manner in which their individual members worship God.

In all matters of religious differences of opinion, Father Doyle's advice is good: Just say "Murphy" and stop right there.

Southern Alberta Sugar Beets

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms—any drugstore.

Northern Outposts Are Cheered By Radio

Broadcasting Programs For Benefit Of Lonely Dwellers In Northland

Broadcasting programs to the Far North will be continued this winter, and messages will be sent to those police posts, missions and trading stations which are scattered throughout Canada's territory north of the 60th parallel. The programs commence Saturday night, November 17, at 11 o'clock Eastern standard time, the Canadian Westinghouse Company operating the broadcast in conjunction with allied stations in the United States.

Officials of the Northwest Territories branch of the Department of the Interior said that the success which had attended previous efforts encouraged them to continue. Gratifying results had been obtained, inasmuch as the lives of the men on the lonely outposts of Canada's northern empire had been greatly cheered by the contact with the world.

For the most part, the messages sent are of a personal nature, being expressions of regards from relatives of the men distributed throughout the north.

Another phase of the broadcast is one which assists the department at times in that instructions can be sent to the officials in the north, supplementary to those already given by mail.

A network of wireless stations now extends over the Northland.

CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Can Be Quickly Banished With Baby's Own Tablets

The ailments of childhood are many but nine-tenths of them are due to one cause and one cause only—a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. To quickly banish any of the minor ailments of babyhood and childhood the bowels must be made to work regular and the stomach must be sweetened.

No other medicine for little ones has had such success as has Baby's Own Tablets. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; correct diarrhoea and colic and promote healthful sleep by regulating the functions of the stomach and bowels. Concerning them, Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S. writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Baby's Own Tablets as I have found them excellent for childhood ailments."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FARMERS MAY DECIDE TO ENTER MILLING BUSINESS

Saskatoon, Sask.—"I think the present grading system is plain, unvarnished robbery," was the answer of George H. Williams, vice-president of the United Farmers of Canada Saskatchewan section, when asked for his opinion regarding the grading problem.

In the course of the interview Mr. Williams foresaw the day when the farmers, co-operatively, could mill their own wheat and thus gain complete control of their produce.

"The grades now current in the country to the farmer are to my mind a fitting climax to that shortsighted campaign which was carried on by certain newspapers during the summer months, enlarging upon our crop prospects and sending out crop reports seemingly limited only by imagination, which undoubtedly went a long way toward producing a bearish market," Mr. Williams said.

"The present low grades are just putting a finishing touch to it," he continued, "they are taking out of Western Canada millions of dollars which rightfully should remain with the people of Western Canada."

"Do you think the elimination of mixing at the private terminals will solve the problem?" Mr. Williams was asked.

"That brings us to the question of the commission which has just been appointed," was the answer. "It is a pleasure to notice that both our federal and provincial governments are deeply concerned as to the grade of wheat that the British miller is getting under the present mixing system; and to note also that the Saskatchewan government has appointed a commission to investigate the marketing of wheat, the personnel of which ought to satisfy the farmers of Saskatchewan.

"You have asked me, do I think the elimination of mixing will cure all the grading problems. Very frankly, I do not, and I hardly think anyone expects it to. It will, however, remove one of the outstanding evils of the grading system. But to find a cure we must go considerably further."

"Taking the name of the newly appointed commission as an indication of its scope, I would imagine that its investigation would go considerably further than the mixing of wheat in the terminals. Personally, I am of the opinion that the average farmer is worried far more at present over the grade he is getting for his wheat than he is over the British miller's grade."

"The elimination of mixing would undoubtedly give the miller a fairer standard to purchase by and to a certain extent it would relieve undergrading in that the present mixing system tends to tempt elevator companies to purchase wheat at a low grade in order to make large mixing profits. It certainly will not, however, do away with undergrading completely."

"No system of grading based on the appearance of wheat can result in anything but injustice under certain crop conditions. I find myself this fall in company with thousands of other farmers in just this position. Wheat which yielded well over 30 bushels per acre, weighing over 60 pounds to the bushel, containing some green kernels and a slight amount of frost, grading as number 5—a very low grade and at very low price."

"Yet, I am convinced from the results of tests made by Dr. Burchard, that the flour milled from this wheat will be sold to the consumers, including myself, as grade one flour. It must be apparent to all that wheat graded on appearance only, is not going to solve the problem confronting the wheat grower of the west even if mixing were eliminated."

Asked what then was his solution of the problem, Mr. Williams replied,

"I must confess, in my opinion the solution of the grading problem lies in placing the farmer in the position where he can dispense with it entirely. In other words, place the farmer in a position where he can control his wheat from the time he harvests it until it reaches the consumer in the form of flour."

Make Arrangements For Important Conference

Agricultural Leaders and Canadian Chamber Of Commerce To Meet In Toronto

Montreal.—The conference which agriculture leaders with the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is arranging for November 27, in Toronto, promises to be an event of economic significance and a forward move in the effort which the chamber is making toward the co-ordination of agriculture and the other business interests of Canada, said Dr. John W. Ross, chairman of the executive of the Canadian Chamber, here.

The invitations which have been issued to each of the heads of the provincial departments of agriculture and to the department of agriculture of Ottawa to participate in the round-table conference have in each case been accepted, said Dr. Ross.

Although no set speeches or papers were to be prepared, the agenda would include a frank and friendly discussion at the conference itself on such subjects as the service which could be rendered the agriculturist through showing him the value of reducing production costs, more efficient farm management, better marketing methods, wider markets and reforestation, and a setting-up of a national agricultural committee of the chamber to advance agriculture in a business-like way.

Prosperous Canada

Hon. Peter Heenan Sees Evidences Of Prosperity Everywhere

Toronto.—With evidence of prosperity everywhere apparent Canada is just coming into her own, declared Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of labor, at a meeting here.

Mr. Heenan discussed briefly the question of immigration and old age pensions. The former subject he stressed two considerations as of vital importance in any policy which might be framed, namely to give preference to Britishers and to give only truthful information to those intending to settle here.

The country could have no worse advertisement than to have immigrants write back "home" and say that conditions have been misrepresented to them, he said.

The minister was high in the praise of old age pensions legislation and declared his intention of speaking "up and down the country" until it had been adopted by every province.

Prevention Of Tuberculosis

Changes Are Foreshadowed In Methods Used To Curb Disease

Toronto.—Various changes of sweeping character in the methods employed to curb tuberculosis throughout Canada are foreshadowed as a result of the study of European methods made by 32 Canadian doctors, including Dr. J. H. Elliott and Dr. Robbie of Toronto.

One of the possibly outstanding changes will be the development of a Dominion department to have control of tuberculosis prevention work throughout the Dominion, and another equally important innovation probably will be legislation providing for substantial grants for the carrying on of the work.

Air Mail Service Profitable

Montreal.—Justification for airmail passenger service between Montreal and New York via Albany, is found in the statement for October which shows a net profit of $3,000. During the month 35 passengers, 10,885 pounds of mail, representing 34,200 pieces, were carried, and a total of 21,877 miles flown. The gross receipts approximated $17,000.

Many Labor Candidates

London, Eng.—Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor party, has announced that the party had decided to fight every seat where it had local party organizations prepared to run a candidate at the forthcoming general elections. He estimated that the party would have 600 candidates in the field.

Will Receive Reward

Montreal.—To anyone who furnished information aiding the police to arrest and convict hit-and-run motorist, the province of Quebec will pay a reward of $100.

FAVORS NORTHERN AERIAL ROUTE

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, now touring Canada, who predicts that Canada will be the crossroad of the air between Europe and the United States. He says that if trans-Atlantic fliers desire to avail themselves of the shortest course between Europe and the United States, they must fly across Canada. This, he said, would entail flying over Arctic ice and he declared that the northern route was much to be preferred.

Russia Needs Wheat

Will Soon Be Placing Orders With Canada Is Report

London, Eng.—A possibility of further orders for the Canadian Wheat Pool from the Union of Soviet Republics has been reported by The Morning Post, which says this is the impression of grain brokers on the Baltic Exchange.

According to the newspaper, information secured by brokers in Britain from travellers and sea captains leads them to believe that the situation in Russia is far worse than generally reported and that the Soviet will resume buying wheat from abroad as speedily as possible before ports become frozen.

In this connection it is recalled that Russia bought 200,000 tons of wheat early this year, following which order there came a lull. The object of this buying is now attributed to a desire to force the hands of the rich peasants, who were withholding stocks. In the present case, however, a serious shortage is believed to exist. How far the convictions of these brokers are justified, it is impossible to tell, and so far there has been no definite indication that Russia is going to resume buying. Nevertheless, The Morning Post is apparently convinced.

Would Safeguard Lake Shipping

Ottawa.—Representations have been made to the various steamship companies operating in the Great Lakes and to others interested suggesting that "in the interests of safety" the period of navigation in these waters should close either on December 5, or December 7, declares Alex. Johnston, deputy minister of marine and fisheries, here.

PLenty Of Room In Canada

For the wives and families back in the homeland it is often a story of patient waiting while the husbands and fathers win a new start in the Canadian west. But the re-union is happy and the future bright when they are once more joined in the new home. Here is a group comprising two families of Swedish colonists, Mrs. Eriksson with her family of ten children and Mrs. Siden with five children, who have just been sent forward by the Canadian National Railways' Colonization Department and the Swedish-American line, to their husbands at Junkins, Alberta, one of whom settled here in 1925 and the other last summer. The statement is made that many more Swedish families of this fine type are expected to follow.

Navigation Through Hudson Straits Closed

Dispatch From Fort Churchill Indicates Harbor Is Frozen Over

Ottawa.—Navigation through the Hudson Straits is closed for the winter, it was learned at the Department of Marine by wireless dispatch from Fort Churchill, which indicates that the harbor is frozen over and there is ice as far as the eye can reach. As a result the ice breaker Montcalm has been ordered to return to Quebec City from Port Burwell.

For several months the Montcalm has been carrying on ice observations in the North and is the last ship to leave Hudson's Bay.

There is no ice in the straits themselves, it was stated. With the closing up of the harbor at Churchill, however, the work of the Montcalm is completed.

Several men are remaining at the various radio stations throughout the straits and will continue sending reports on ice and fog conditions.

Find Oil Shale In North

New Discoveries Are Reported Near Hudson's Bay Junction

The Pas.—Mining men in The Pas district are much interested in reports from Hudson's Bay Junction, Sask., indicating new finds of oil shale 25 miles southeast of that village.

The discoveries have been made in the old Porcupine Hills forest reserve and are close to the Manitoba boundary. Geologists representing a Toronto engineering company have been on the field for some weeks.

Oil shales found in the new area are reported to have a greater potential value than the discoveries made in recent years in The Pas hills north of the junction. Tests made of oil shales west of The Pas have been interesting, but no effort has been made to produce oil in that area.

Storms Sweeps Alaska City

Thirty Thousand Dollar Property Damage Reported At Cordova

Cordova, Alaska.—Property damage estimated at $30,000 was counted following the worst storm in the history of the city. The greater part of the damage was to the new school building. The roof was blown off, and torrential rains poured into the unprotected building, ruining every room. Flying wreckage from the building broke hundreds of windows.

The wind tore telephone poles from the ground and took the front off a hotel building.

Manitoba Wheat Pool Meeting

Brandon, Man.—Three hundred delegates together with a large number of visitors attended the fifth annual meeting of the Manitoba Wheat Pool held here under the chairmanship of Colin H. Burnell, president of the pool. The directors' report was favorable though it was pointed out that the crop had been somewhat poor both in grades and quantity obtained, particularly in the oats.

HERBERT HOOVER IS ELECTED NEW U. S. PRESIDENT

New York.—Republicans have swept the country from coast to coast. They have enveloped the states bordering on the old solid South. They have driven a wedge into the South itself.

Herbert Hoover has been elected to the presidency in one of the most sweeping landslides ever recorded.

By one of those extraordinary ironies of politics, it was Governor Smith's own state of New York which first wrote his doom. On four occasions New York had given Smith the highest office in its gift. To capture New York state and its 45 electoral college votes the Democrats fought bitterly and strenuously.

Hoover might have lost New York state and still won the presidency; Smith had to win New York state if, he was to be the next president of the U.S.. New York was to be the nucleus of a Democratic raid into the states of New England and the Atlantic seaboard.

New York City gave its plurality to Governor Smith but the upstate Republican vote rolled over it. With 275 districts missing out of 8,267, Hoover was 90,000 ahead.

Democrats, however, found some bright spots in the New York state returns. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who nominated Smith, at Houston, was elected to the governorship over Albert Ottinger by a margin that showed him running well ahead of the Democratic National ticket.

Washington, D.C.—President Coolidge sent congratulations to President-elect Hoover and Vice-president-elect Charles Curtis. His message to Hoover read:

"The success of our party with your election to the presidency and the endorsement of the administration are a great satisfaction to me. With this endorsement I can now retire from office in contentment. I send you my most cordial congratulations on your victory, and to yourself and Mrs. Hoover my best wishes in which Mrs. Coolidge joins."

Has Indian Ancestors

Next Vice-President Of United States Is Part Indian

New York.—Charles Curtis, next vice-president of the United States, has, through his mother, both French-Canadian and Indian blood.

His mother, Helene Pappan, was the youngest daughter of Louis Pappan, a French-Canadian fur trader who settled among the Indians of the Kansas tribe, and Julie Gonville, who was one-half Indian and a direct descendant of two famous chiefs, White Plume, chief of the Kansas tribe, and Pawhuska, chief of the Osage tribe.

Mr. Curtis is therefore one-eighth Indian.

Labor Meets Reverses

Party Failed To Gain Much Success In Scottish Municipal Elections

Edinburgh.—Labor after widespread victories in the English municipal elections staged a keen fight in the Scottish municipal elections, but failed to gain much success.

In Glasgow, Labor made a net gain of one seat. Elections in Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Dundee and Greenock resulted in gains of three seats by the moderates, who have majorities in a large number of places.

The moderates also captured four seats, two each from Labor and Communists—at Lochgelly in the heart of the Fife coal fields.

Entire Family Die In Fire

Bridgewater, N.S.—An entire family of five persons was wiped out in a fire at South Conquerall near here. The dead: Albert Nash, his wife, two children, Annie, 14, and Viola, 11, and Eli Nash, brother of Albert. The tragedy was discovered when a neighbor saw smoke arising from the Nash farm.

Big Sum For Charity

Montreal.—Montreal's federated charities campaign to raise $600,000 to assure budgets of 32 welfare societies was successful. The total realized was $639,827.67.

THANKSGIVING

So far as we have observed or discovered, we Canadians are the only one of the family of nations which make up the British Empire that has established a national Thanksgiving Day. Our American cousins have set us a good example in that respect and the following of their example in regard to Thanksgiving is a bit of Americanisation to which no good Canadian can raise objection.

It is a good thing for a nation to be thankful, as it is for an individual. The cultivation of the thankful spirit is well worth while. Man, to a great extent, is the architect of his own fortunes but there are circumstances and contributory factors without which failure might be as easily registered as success. The same is true of nations. If the hand of God is to be seen and recognized in the shaping of history, as is true, then the making of this Canada of ours the endowing of it with such illimitable riches, and the inheriting of it by the mere handful of nine millions of people who constitute the Canadian nation is something for which every Canadian worthy the name should be deeply grateful to God.

We Canadians should be thankful for our mighty heritage, this Canada for our membership in the community of nations known as the Commonwealth of British Nations; for our nearness to the Republic of the United States which enables us to interpret the British people to the American and vice versa, as well as to provide the world with the most outstanding example of two great people living side by side with unfortified boundaries in continuous peace; for our beautiful land; for our prospering trade, and for the great vitality and strength which are our portion as a by-product of the wonderful climate we possess. So let us be thankful and rejoice.

THE ZEPPELIN MORAL

Crossing the Atlantic has become a matter of such frequent occurrence these days that our pulses have been but slightly stirred by the feat of the Germans in bringing their monster Graf safely to this side of the ocean and as safely taking it back. Yet it is an epoch-making event and one fraught with deeper significance than almost any event of the past decade. Apart from the pleasure it will, or should, give all of us to see our late enemies achieving things in the domain of peace that, happily, they could not in the region of war—if we are good sports, that is how we shall feel about it—the witnessing by the world at large of another triumph over the elements by man is something to cause general rejoicing and satisfaction.

It is, however, the implications of the Graf's remarkable feat that are most interesting and significant. Rightly regarded, it should be the greatest incentive to world peace that could be conceived. Imagine what it might have meant to the United States and Canada had the Graf crossed the Atlantic on an errand of hate instead of one of friendship. Four days, or thereabouts, from the time of leaving Germany the crew of the Graf could have laid Washington, New York, Boston, Montreal and many other Eastern cities in ruin. By the use of poison gas they could have destroyed whole populations in the big centres of civilization in these two countries. If accompanied by other similar craft properly equipped for the purpose, these two countries might have been subjugated within twenty-four hours of the arrival of the zeppelins. What a terrible thing to contemplate!

It is not to be thought for one moment that the German people have any such designs on the United States and Canada, or upon any other country. The German people have probably had enough of war for a century to come. But it might have been any other nation that sent a zeppelin over the ocean, and that other nation might have had warlike intentions. The moral of it all is, that we should make war forever impossible, not merely because of the proved and now recognized futility of war, but because of the terribleness of future war, as indicated by what is said above. It may be said that if any other nation can build zeppelins and carry on warfare with them, so can we. True. But what is it all worth?

Why destroy civilization when there is a better way to settle disputes and future wars will mean the extermination of peoples and not merely their decimation, as hitherto? Certainly, the crossing of the Atlantic twice by the Graf should help us to think peace-wards.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

For the first ten months of this year gasoline consumption has been greater by six million gallons than in any previous year and will mean a revenue of nearly $1,000,000 for the provincial government from the tax of 3 cents a gallon. In 1922 the total consumption was a little over 9,000,000 gallons and for the first 10 months of this year it is estimated that 31,000,000 gallons have been used. The consumption for 1927 is estimated at approximately 25,000,000 gallons.

Up to October 23, F. M. Black of Kelowna, Chairman of the Interior Tree Fruit and Vegetable Committee of Direction, stated last week while in Calgary, that the apple crop of B.C. amounted to 1,500,000 boxes and that the total crop would be in the neighborhood of 4,250,000 boxes. This represents an increase of about half a million boxes as compared with last year. Mr. Black incidentally mentioned that 40 acres of grapes had been grown in Kelowna this year and that they had received good prices.

The Alberta Provincial Seed Fair will be held in Edmonton during the week of January 15th, 1929, it is announced by Field Commissioner W. J. Stephen. It is expected that the attendance will include a large number of farmers interested in the production of high quality seed grain, as well as many delegates to the U.F.A. annual convention which is to be held in Edmonton during the same week. Arrangements are being made, as in previous years, to hold the annual meeting of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association at the same time.

During the past year in the neighborhood of 140 families have been settled on irrigated farms in the Lethbridge district, according to James Pike, director of colonization for the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District. This brings the total farm population in this area up to some 800 families. Crops in the irrigation section have been very good during the season, states Mr. Pike, but suffered, as in some other parts of the province, from the effects of hail and frost and the probable result will be that more attention will be paid to mixed farming.

Arrangements are being made for the annual meeting of the Western Canada Livestock Union which is to be held in Edmonton, February 20-22, 1929. R. A. Wright of Drinkwater, Sask., is president, and C.M. Learmonth of Regina is secretary of the organization, which includes in its membership many prominent livestock men in the western provinces.

Problems of the beef cattle industry will have a place in the program of the convention, which will also

D. & B. C. to Hythe, and it is expected that this line will be in operation within a short time.

Some 200 young British farmers are expected to come to Alberta early next summer, according to an announcement just made by Hon. George Headley, Minister of Agriculture. The first group will arrive about April 1 and will be followed by the remainder a month later. Arrangements are being made to give these boys a month's intensive training at the agricultural schools at Vermilion, Olds, and Claresholm and as they will have received some preliminary instruction in Canadian farming methods before leaving the old country, they will then be in a position to start work at once on farms in the province.

Badger Skins Are Valuable

Pelts Should Be Taken in the Right Season, However

Badger skins, if taken off animals at the right season, and not spoiled in handling, are now quite valuable. At the recent fur auction in Winnipeg the best badger skin sold for $52.00, and a good average skin is worth, perhaps, about $20.00 to $25.00. But many people are taking these pelts during the late summer and fall, when the skins are worthless, or practically so. Badger skins are most valuable after the animals have some out of their winter retirement. Skins taken in the spring are valuable; those taken in the fall are almost worthless. About twenty-thousand badger skins are marketed annually in the three Prairie Provinces.

TONIC TREATMENT
FOR INDIGESTION

Indigestion Comes With a Run-Down Condition—Relief Comes Through Enriching the Blood—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make New Blood.

There are many symptoms of indigestion such as acute pain after eating, belching of wind, nausea and vomiting, bloating and pains in the region of the heart, a dread of food for the misery it causes. Dieting and the use of pre-digested foods may give ease, but that is all, and meanwhile the stomach grows steadily weaker. The work of digestion depends upon the blood and nerves and the only way to get rid of indigestion is to tone up the stomach through the blood, to do the work nature intended it should do.

The one thorough way to do this is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood, strengthen the nerves and enable the stomach to do its work with ease and comfort. Neglected indigestion means prolonged misery. If you have any of the symptoms of this trouble try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once and you will be gratified with the results.

Among the many who have found new health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Ada Webb, R.R. No. 3, Prescott, Ont., who says:—"For a long time I went through the tortures of nervous indigestion; I call it torture because no other word can describe what I endured. If my stomach was empty I retched. If I took food I vomited. I did not sleep, and I was steadily growing weaker. I doctorred for months but with no benefit. One day my husband said, as the treatment you have had has not helped you, why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I consented and he got me a supply.

After I had been taking the pills for a while I knew they were helping me as the pains and retching grew less and I slept better. I gladly continued the use of the pills and in a few months I felt like a new woman, better than I had felt for years, and able to work for my husband and children again.

After such a wonderful experience how can I do anything else but recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you need a blood-building tonic begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Husband (reading latest about radio-television): "My word! This opens up some wonderful possibilities, dear."

Wife—"Yes, my love! Won't it be nice for me to be able to sit here and watch you working in your office when you're kept there at nights!"

Nation-wide Fame. — There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Hostess (to curate at the children's party): "Will you give them, your son now, Mr. Meekin, or shall we allow them to enjoy themselves for another half-hour?"

Useful In Camp.—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles, and should a cut, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

Northern Alberta Boys' and Girls' Swine Club

First Prize In C.P.R. Competition Is Won By Members of Club At Willingdon

First prize in the Canadian Pacific Railway Competition in the Boys' and Girls' Swine Club show for Northern Alberta, was won by Parafte Lazaruk and Harry Strynadka, members of the Swine Club, at Willingdon, on the New Canadian Pacific Railway Cutknife-Whitford line.

Second prize went to Benny Flaads and Bernie Kobitzsch, of the Hardisty Club, and third, Thurston Smith and Erwin Berguf, of the Sedgewick Club.

Handsome medals were presented to members of the winning team by Superintendent George Fox, of the Edmonton Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Both members of the team are of Ukrainian descent and are sons of prosperous farmers in the district.

Each of the boys is 17 years old. Strynadka is in grade ten at Desjardins school, and Lazaruk is working on his father's farm.

The Willingdon team will proceed to Calgary where they will compete with the winners of the Canadian Pacific Railway competition in the southern part of the province, for the trophy awarded to the highest scoring team from any point along Canadian Pacific railway lines in Alberta, and a trip to the Toronto Royal as guests of the railway.

Local officials of the railway companies, of Provincial and Dominion departments of agriculture and livestock interests, are well pleased with the successful results of the Boys and Girls' Club work during the past season, and credit is given to these clubs for much of the improvement noted in recent years in the quality of hogs shipped to market from many districts in the province.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

PAUL'S EXPERIENCES IN JERUSALEM

Golden Text: "Be strong in the Lord, and in the strength of His might."—Ephesians 6:10.

Lesson: Acts 21:17-23:35.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 6:10-20.

Explanation and Comments

Paul's Request, 21:37-39.—Read the earlier verses of this chapter. Paul is standing on the stairway leading from the outer court of the temple up to the Tower of Antonia, and before him is Claudius Lysias, chief captain of the band. "May I say something unto thee?" courteously Paul asked, speaking in the Greek language. In surprise Lysias asked in his turn, "Dost thou know Greek?"

"And was it not a needless surprise? Paul was a university man. He was cultured to his finger tips. He had one of the greatest brains of history. We all often reproduce the role of the Chief Captain. We were amazed how well read and intelligent was that unassuming man. But our surprise was needless. Assumption is not culture. The spiritual quality of men and women often surprise us. We say, "I never thought that man was such a Christian." "I never dreamed that woman could have been such a heroine amid sorrow." But we did not know them any more than Lysias knew Paul. And we did not know their inner life or devotion to the Saviour of the world. We knew not their prayers, their unseen sessions with their Bible, their gracious investiture with the Spirit of Christ."—Dinsdale T. Young.

"Give me leave to speak unto the people!"—this was Paul's request of the Chief Captain. "Get me safely out of this, away from this mob," would have been the anxious plea of most men in Paul's position, and perhaps it was surprise which led Lysias to allow Paul to speak to the howling Jews below him.

"Great duties are before me, and great songs; And whether crowned or crownless when I fall, It matters not, so as God's work is done."—Alexander Smith.

Paul's Address, 21:30 to 22:21.—Then Paul, torn and bleeding as he was, and chained to two soldiers, stood upon the stairway above that howling mob who were thirsting for his blood, himself perhaps the only calm man there, and addressed them in their own language, Aramaic, a dialect of the Hebrew. He defended himself from the charge that he was an enemy of the people, of the law, and of the temple. He told them that he was an Israelite, and though born in Tarsus he had been educated in Jerusalem, at the feet of their famous rabbi Gamaliel. He had been most zealous in persecuting the Christians, had even started for Damascus with letters from the Sanhedrin allowing him to seize and bring back in chains all the Christians he could find. Many of those to whom he was speaking must have known and recalled these facts. Next, he wished to defend his Christian faith, and he told them about his wonderful conversion, about his interview with Annas and the restoration of his sight, and about his return to Jerusalem and his baptism. If the Crucified Jesus had appeared to him in such power, then he must be the Messiah whom he, as a Pharisee, had so longed to see; and if the Risen Jesus is really the Messiah, then Paul must as a righteous Israelite yield him willing obedience and bear his witness for him.

Yet another aim had Paul, the aim of all his preaching: He would win even that mob over to a favorable opinion of this Jesus who could change in a moment of time a bigoted Pharisee into an active Christian. And finally, he justified his work among the Gentiles as the fulfilling of the express command of his Lord.

Prominent Health Officials

Four prominent Canadian health officials have been appointed to the Connaught Laboratories Fellowships in the School of Hygiene, of the University of Toronto. They are Dr. R. B. Jenkins, Edmonton; Dr. F. W. Jackson, Winnipeg; Dr. F. S. Leader, Battleford, Sask.; Dr. Eva Mader, Kettville, N.S. The fellowships were established last year for the purpose of increasing the number of public health workers in Canada.

A Double Escape

DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER'S STORY

Another Toronto home provides evidence of how a simple cut, scratch or bruise, may pave the way to deadly blood-poison, and how vital in the need for keeping Zam-Buk, always handy?

When called upon at 3, Bushness Avenue, Mrs. J. E. Zealley, daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, S. Wales, said:—"My boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace. A nasty poisoned sore developed and it defied all the usual ointments. Hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. To my great relief, the balm soon caused healing to set in. All inflammation and poisonous matter was quickly removed by Zam-Buk, and it healed the sore without leaving a scar."

"Again when I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, Zam-Buk alone saved me. My daughter, a nurse, was of the opinion that only an operation could remove the mass of inflammation and pus. But I again pinned my faith to Zam-Buk, and it cleansed and stores sell Zam-Buk at fifty cents per box. Equally valuable for eczema, pimples, cuts, burns, etc."

Tomb Of Columbus Found

Mementoes Indicate His Burial Near Badajoz, Spain

A commission sent by the Academy of History to investigate what is claimed by some to be the tomb of Christopher Columbus, at Offiva de Jerez, forty-five miles south of Badajoz, Spain, reported that there were traces in the Church of Santa Maria Grecia, indicating mementoes of Columbus. The commission also stated that a number of stones had been found with the inscription: "Here lies Christopher Columbus, Sanchez Enriques, Grand Admiral of the Oceans and the Lands by Him Discovered, born 1411." Enriques is contended by some authorities to have been the real name of Columbus.

"Thank you," the older man replied gravely. "Our population is made up of people from all parts of the world as our native-born are few. A cosmopolite is more or less indifferent to the future of the country in which he resides. 'Get the money' is unfortunately the slogan of many of our business men, who make no attempt to build for the future. Until such time as there is ingrained in the hearts of our citizens a true love for our Province; until such time as our cities and towns forget petty bickerings and jealousies and work together and harmoniously, then—and only then—will British Columbia become what Nature intended, the crowning jewel of the British Empire."

Janet's guests arrived in groups of two and three until about twenty of Vancouver's younger set were scattered about the large rooms. In introducing Donald to her friends Janet felt a warm glow of satisfaction as she saw the many glances of keen interest directed toward her stranger guest.

A slender girl with elaborately coiffed golden hair, looking like a white butterfly, fluttered to Janet's side and shook a reproving finger in her face. "Fess up now, Janet," she pouted; "how long have you been hiding this handsome man? Who is this Prince Charming?"

"Curiosity killed the cat," was Janet's evasive reply.

Donald had no penchant for social functions, but this lively party was a grateful respite from a whole winter of lonely evenings, and he entered into the spirit of the occasion whole-heartedly.

A game of whist and then the big rooms were cleared and they danced until a late hour. At Donald's request Janet sang for them. Her rich contralto voice seemed to fill the room and set the air pulsing with sweet harmony. She sang a song of love and passion that seemed to bear Donald into another world. As he turned the final sheet and the last liquid note travelled through the rooms he roused himself as though Sarnia, Ont.—"I am willing to answer letters from other women, to tell them the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. I cannot be thankful enough for the benefits I received during the Change of Life. I do housework and my troubles made me unfit to work. A friend advised me to try the Vegetable Compound. I felt great relief at once, began to regain my appetite, and my nerves got better. I will recommend your medicine to all with troubles like I had."—Mrs. JOHN BENSON, 162 N. from a spell. That voice! How strangely it affected him! He looked down to find Janet's dark eyes fixed on his.

"Will you please sing again?" he implored.

"The same?" she questioned softly.

He nodded. Donald's gaze travelled from the flying white fingers to the lovely face of the singer. As their eyes met Janet's face flushed slightly, and at the finish of the verse she changed quickly to a rollicking song of the sea. "All join in," she called merrily over her shoulder.

After Janet's other guests had departed Donald, Douglas and Janet sat for an hour chatting by the large fireplace.

"May I go with you as far as Squamish tomorrow?" asked Janet.

"Certainly, Sis."

"And when the railroad is through I will visit you," she added.

Douglas looked at her curiously. Janet abhorred roughing it. Riding around Stanley Park and an occasional game of tennis comprised the extent of her outdoor activities. Douglas glanced at the clock and came quickly to his feet. "I'd better hustle you home, Donald," he said, "as we have to be up early."

The tinted shade of the hall light lent a soft radiance to the dark beauty of Janet's face and gave to her eyes a deep and languorous glow. "I have enjoyed every moment. Thank you so much," Donald said earnestly.

"I'm glad," she answered in a quiet voice.

He took her hand and held it in a strong pressure "I'll see you in the morning?"

"Yes," she murmured softly.

The door closed gently and Janet heard him run down the steps to the whirring motor. She stood immovable until the sound of the car died in the distance, then walked meditatively to the fireplace, sank to a big chair and stared dreamily into the dying embers. Idly she reached for the evening paper and spread it on her knees.

"Such dignity and poise! He is wonderful!" she whispered aloud. "I must ask Douglas more about him."

She lowered her eyes to the paper, then came slowly to her feet, a look of blank amazement on her face. Smiling up at her was the face of the man of whom she had been dreaming.

"CANADIAN CHAMPION"

"New Canadian champion, whose spectacular defeat of Garneau stamps him as a master of fistiana and places him in line to meet the world's top-notchers."

A pugilist! And she had proudly introduced him to her friends! Why hadn't Douglas told her? She threw herself into a chair and gave herself over to a period of gloomy contemplation.

Whistling softly Douglas shut off the hall lights and entered the room, "Not in bed yet? You'd better—." he broke off suddenly as she turned cold eyes upon him.

"Why didn't you tell me that your friend is a pugilist?" she demanded as she thrust the offending sheet in Douglas's hand. "In the glove business!" she went on sarcastically. "That may be your idea of a joke, but I don't see anything funny about it." And without waiting for an answer she flung herself angrily from the room.

Douglas lighted a cigarette, which he smoked with short angry puffs as he walked the floor. He kicked viciously at an inoffensive footstool and sent it hurtling across the room. "Damn!" Then throwing the half-smoked cigarette in the fireplace, he switched off the light and sought his bed.

CHAPTER VII.

In spite of the late hour of his retiring, Donald was up early and was the first of the party to reach the dock. Gillis and Andy arrived soon after, the latter staggering manfully under his heavy pack, a rifle swinging loosely in his hand.

Douglas stepped forward as Douglas appeared. His face fell as he saw that he was alone. "Isn't your sister coming?" he asked.

Douglas avoided Donald's direct gaze. He leaned over to fumble needlessly with the straps of his duffle bags. "She's peevish; saw your photograph in last night's paper."

"I'm sorry," said Donald, obviously distressed.

"Janet makes me tired," said Douglas irritably. "What if you did fight Garneau? What difference does it make?"

"Your sister's view-point is different," answered Donald gloomily. "You must be curious to know more about me, Doug, yet you have never asked any questions."

"I have often wondered," admitted Douglas; "but if you wished me to know you would tell me. I don't give a hang who you are or what you are. You suit me."

"Thanks, Doug."

The shrill blast of the steamer's whistle smote their ears.

"Ere, you blighters!" shouted Andy from the top deck, "are you going on in this blinkin' picnic?"

The lines were cast off, the water boiled under the steamer's stern. They backed slowly from the dock, swung about and headed for the Narrows.

The scores of screaming gulls that accompanied them hovered over the deck, their keen eyes on the lookout for any bits of waste food that should fall in the steamer's wake. Boats piled in and out, every kind of craft from small fishing-boat to ocean liner.

A bright sun, beaming with all the warmth and splendour of full morning, bathed inlet and mountain in a wide shower of gold. A strong westward wind bucked an outgoing tide, the foam of tossing wave crests flashing white in the sunlight. The tumbling combers hissed and crashed against the sturdy bow of the boat, causing her to pitch jerkily.

The salt breeze whipped a glow into the faces of the party gathered near the pilot-house and strummed noisily through the masts and superstructure.

A yacht-like passenger steamer from Victoria, painted a pure white, swept past them, a smoother of foam at her bow. A rakishly-built tug trudged cityward with a huge raft of logs in tow, a pillar of inky smoke streaming over her bow.

As they passed the sheer wall of Prospect Point, Donald's thought reverted to his first meeting with Janet. Douglas, who had been studying the shore through binoculars, passed the glasses to Donald and pointed to the bluff. At first he saw nothing of special interest and turned to glance at Douglas inquiringly.

"Janet," smiled Douglas.

Sure enough he now saw a horse and rider on the highest point etched in a miniature against the dark green woods. Douglas waved a handkerchief, and Donald caught a flutter of white from the dizzy promontory.

His mind was filled with conjectures. Why was she there? Had she still a kindly feeling for him despite last night's exposure?

Janet could not herself have explained her reason for being there.

She was up early, stole quietly to the stable, saddled her horse and rode to the Park. Riding steadily all the morning, she had battled with herself, had summoned all her courage to resist the spell this strange young man held over her, only to find that her will was impotent.

As she now waved her handkerchief she strained her eyes in a vain effort to single out Donald's tall form.

Suddenly a feeling of shame for her weakness came over her. "Can't you forget him?" she asked herself irritably. "A prize-fighter!" Whirling her horse about she galloped swiftly toward the City.

The Rennie C. & L. Co. were already operating trains to Cheakamus, twelve miles from the Coast. An engine with two coaches was waiting to convey the passengers—chiefly labourers carrying blankets—to "the end of steel."

At Cheakamus the atmosphere was tense with activity. Engines shunted back and forth; the scream of a big circular saw came from a mill that was turning huge fir logs into ties; mule-skinners shouted as they backed their heavy wagons to the platform to be loaded with supplies. At both sides of the track were huge piles of ties, lumber and rails. The newly-arrived labourers hoisted their packs to their backs and set off up the road.

It was plain that this settlement was not built for permanency; it was a typical mushroom town. The rough board buildings still retained the colour of green lumber. Heaps of tin cans, piles of waste lumber, and the various parts of broken wagons littered the ground. The picturesqueness that Donald had expected to find in this wilderness camp was lacking, but he was vastly thrilled by the stupendous power exhibited in the combined forces of men and machinery.

From up the line came the roar of a terrific blast; the ground trembled and sent rumbling echoes through the valley. A whole train-load of logs were dumped into the mill-pond with a crash that sent the water in a hissing wave that struck the opposite shore and exploded in a seething mass of dirty white foam. The air seemed charged with a dynamic energy which caused the blood to tingle in the veins.

In the yard of a stable a number of horses lay on the ground or stood weakly with drooping heads.

"Horse hospital," informed Gillis, to Donald's inquiry.

Douglas moved to the fence, his heart filled with pity. Two men, one carrying a rifle, entered the enclosure and walked to the side of a handsome big Clydesdale that stood on spindly legs, his head lowered and his eyes filled with mute agony. One foreleg was terribly swollen, and a long livid wound showed on one powerful hip.

"Sorry, Pete, but Doc. sez he's got to go," said the man with the rifle reluctantly, as he slipped a halter over the stricken animal's head.

The man addressed as Pete patted the horse's head affectionately. "I bin drivin' old Bob for about six years, Bill. We knows each other like a book." He pressed his face roughly to the horse's muzzle. "Don't we, old pal?" he finished in a muffled tone.

Pulling and coaxing they urged the doomed animal through the gate.

"You needn't go, Pete," said the man with the gun.

His companion stopped near Donald and stood staring after the painfully limping animal. Nearing the woods the horse stopped short, lifted his head high on his arched neck, and sent out a clarion call that was answered by weak nickers from his mates within the corral.

A few men glanced up casually, then turned to their tasks. Work went on as usual. The mill clattered, drivers shouted, the engine bells clanged—only a horse that was no more useful being led to his death. An everyday occurrence in a construction camp.
